credit card rewards can be dangerous for cardholders who have a habit of overspending and not paying off your balance if you re acquiring interest then its better to cut up those cards than to maximize points consider using prepaid cards and using a free cashback rewards site

i was probably one of early users years ago when this app started it was great for someone who lives in a big city because all the stores were with walking distance within a few blocks and when your not working you have all the time to walk around i was killing it with the points i was making hundreds in gift cards a year enough to get an ipad every year than ones at it started with the points value reduced for scanning or lack of items to scan than the app was not working great anymore when i enter the shop it says the shop is across the street which it is not their gps was not working great than one day i was locked out with still about almost 200 with of gift cards that i did not cash out yet i reached out to customer service and wanted to know what happened to my account why i m not able get into my account they told me it was some fraud activity i don t know how i can cause fraud by just walking into a store or just scanning as the app suggests it s what makes it unique this happened as the app was getting very popular and too many people were using it and not enough points to credit new users when i referred many of my friends to download and use the app same thing happened to them they would get big points on scan items or walk ins and a few weeks later the kicks as they call them were dwindling to nothing that s why i deleted the app and found many other really easy and legit apps making way more on them than i did with this app the number of points you can earn depends on the length of the survey but they typically range from 50 to 600 points each you ll also earn 5 points for every 10 profile questions you answer and up to 750 for each friend you refer
